RABBI ELIGBERG SPEAKS

8 Days, 8 Actions

This Hanukkah, join Jews around North America in 8 simple actions to help conserve energy, slow global climate change, and save you money!

Day 1: Let there be sustainable light. Change one regular bulb in your home to a CFL (Compact Fluorescent Light). It is estimated that about three light bulbs burn five or more hours a day in the average US home. If those three bulbs were replaced with compact fluorescents in every home, it would eliminate about 23 million tons of carbon dioxide emissions a year! Don't be fooled by the seemingly higher prices of CFLs. They last ten times as long as standard incandescent bulbs and use only a quarter of the energy to produce the same amount of light- a modern Hanukkah miracle! (To find CFLs near you, contact your local hardware store or visit www.greenpages.org.)

Day 2: Turn down the temperature of your water heater to the warm setting (120°F). Water heaters are the second largest energy users in the home, averaging 20% of all household energy use. With heaters set at the maximum 140°F, most of us need to dilute our hot water by turning on the cold tap anyway. By changing the setting to 120°F you'll not only save energy, but also avoid scalding your hands!

Day 3: Lower your thermostat 3°F. Did you know that for each degree that you lower your thermostat in the winter, you could cut your energy use by about 3%? By lowering your thermostat just 3°F, you can reduce your energy consumption by nearly 10%. The same applies to raising your thermostat 3°F in the summertime; doing both can prevent on average the emission of nearly 1,100 pounds of carbon dioxide annually. You probably won't even notice the difference!

Day 4: Skip a car trip. Transportation, specifically in automobiles, is responsible for about a third of American greenhouse gas emissions. What's worse, while the trend is to buy large SUVs or 8- passenger vans, we spend the majority of our time driving alone. Carpooling helps, and buying locally cuts down on unnecessary driving as well. Today, walk, run, skate, bike, or take public transportation instead of a car ride.

Day 5: Start a scrap paper pile. More than 40% of all waste in US landfills is paper products. Many towns and cities now have community recycling which has helped to save trees and produce biofuels from old paper fibers that can be used to generate cleaner energy. However, we are still too quick to toss sheets with only a few lines on them. Add another important step to the recycling process right in your home by starting a scrap pile with used pieces of paper (that only are printed on one side, for example). You can use the backs for printing drafts of documents, writing notes, making shopping lists, etc. And the paper gets double the life! Go one step further by buying recycled paper products and you've completed the recycling loop!

Day 6: Give your home a Hanukkah gift from Energy Star. Energy Star is a US program jointly run by the EPA (Environmental Protection Agency) and the US Department of Energy to label and promote energy efficient appliances and products. Because Energy Star is purely voluntary, companies can only obtain the right to use the Energy Star logo if their product is significantly more efficient than required by government standards. In addition to refrigerators, cooling & heating units, dishwasher, washing machines, etc. energy-efficient TVs, VCRs, and DVD players are available. If the average American were to equip their home with only products that have the Energy Star label, they'd reduce lower energy bills—and greenhouse gas emissions—by nearly a third! (For more info about Energy Start visit their website at http://www.energystar.gov)

Day 7: Write a letter to the President or Congress. As you've experienced the past six days, we can all do a lot to lower energy consumption in our own homes. We also need to change our nation's energy policy to effectively reduce our nation's energy consumption. Write to the President, your representatives in Congress and local authorities to let them know what you've done at home and ask them to make changes in energy policy to promote conservation and the development of clean energy sources. See COEJL's Web site at www.coejl.org for sample letters.

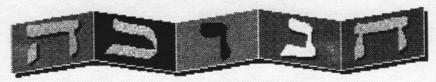

Day 8: Have a candlelight dinner. Roughly a quarter of the total electricity generated in the U.S.—$37 billion worth—is used for lighting. This is more electricity than the continents of South America and Africa, combined, use for all purposes! Shut off all of your lights for an hour and enjoy your last evening of latkes with the full Hanukkiah glowing. (You may want to light a few extra candles; it is traditional that we do not use the Hanukkiah as a functional lamp.) It can be a romantic dinner or special holiday memory for your kids!

ADULT EDUCATION

Maimonides: Life and Works

In commemoration of Maimonides' 800th yahrzeit, our adult education program will begin with six sessions exploring the life and works of one of Judaism's greatest philosophers and halachists.

Wednesdays: December 1, 8, 15 7:30pm

Adult-Ed Update

Gary Bergman, VP of Activities

We have a very diverse group of dedicated committee people who are putting together some equally diverse programs this year. We will have a series of "How-To" classes on such topics as, "How to prepare a Friday Night Shabbat Dinner" to "How to conduct a Shivah Minyan". We are arranging speakers for "Life Cycle" presentations such as caring for the elder members of the family and we look forward to Hilary Tinkel-Vernon's presentation of "Jewish Genetics" on January 5th.

We will continue our tradition of inviting scholars such as Professors Azzan Yadin and Jeff Shandler from the department of Jewish studies at Rutgers and dignitaries from the Israeli Consulate. We have also garnered the services of some of our very learned congregants to teach their favorite subjects.

But, no matter what we offer, there are always some congregants who won't leave their homes on a Wednesday night for ANYTHING. If this applies to you, please note that we now offer free transportation and/or a next-day DVD or VHS of your favorite Wednesday night TV shows.

BOARD AND VP REPORTS

From November, 2004 Board of Trustees Meeting

Administrative VP Dan Greenberg

House & Grounds: We are still trying to locate a roofer who will continue to service our aging roof.

Décor: The caterer is scheduled to present samples for draping the social hall synagogue; the committee will then make a recommendation to the Board.

Religious Activities: We will be starting a campaign to purchase the new Siddur Sim Shalom. The cost will be $30 to dedicate a new siddur and $21 to move a dedication from an old siddur to a new one. We will continue to use the existing siddurim in the religious school as well as in junior congregation and also for our daily minyan.

The interfaith service is scheduled for November 21st at the Islamic Society of Central Jersey.

The congregational Chanukah party will be on Tuesday, December 14th Personnel: We are interviewing for the part-time bookkeeper position and expect to have the position filled by December 1st.

Activities VP Gary Bergman

Social Action: The Social Action Committee thanks all those who donated and helped sort the clothing for our winter drive with the Clothes Line Bus project. They still need eight volunteers, ages 16 & up, to distribute the clothing to the needy on Sunday, November 14th in the afternoon at Elijah's Promise, New Brunswick. Contact Laura Waksman, 732-698-2494

Adult Education: The committee is putting together a comprehensive program of film/discussions, lectures, presentations, and day trips. Gary Bergman has elected to chair the committee. The series will begin with Rabbi Eligberg's lecture series on Maimonides, slated for 3 weeks in December. There was some discussion about the make-up of the committee, which consists mostly of "empty-nesters". The programs, however, are being targeted to the demographics of the entire congregation.

Programming/Recreation: Steve Juro is in the process of putting together a committee to provide activities centered around our new facility.

Website/Communications: Subscriptions of the email CBT Newsletter has now reached 320 families.

NEW Separate CBT Politics eGroup mailing list: Marty Abschutz established a new email group to focus on "politics" which freed up our eGroup for discussions more appropriate for affairs about B'nai Tikvah and Judiasm in general.

THE OFFICE VOICE

Nitsat Hadas Elami, Administrative Director

www.bnaitikvah.org

Shalom,

We have had a security system in the building for quite awhile. As most of you know, in order to enter while the security system is on, you either have to dial the appropriate office or punch in your personal code to get in. Recently I was finally able to make some changes & updates to the system setup. I thought it might be a good idea to refresh everyone's memory on the system's operation..

Any member of Congregation B'nai Tikvah can have his or her own personal access code to the building. In order to receive a personal code, just contact me at the office and I will assign one to you. Please make sure your code remains confidential since it does allow people to enter all parts of the building, including our School Wing. In order to release the doors with your own code, you key in your code on the keypad followed by *. The door will be released for 5 seconds and will reset the lock afterwards.

If you don't want to have a code, you can enter the building when the office is open using the phone located in the main entrance vestibule. If your appointment is after office hours, there usually isn't anyone to pick up the phone in the main office. You will have to use the phone in the vestibule to dial the direct number of the person you are meeting so that he or she can let you in. The list of extensions is posted by the phone in the vestibule. Please keep in mind that the main office has no way to open the doors to the school wing.

All Religious School children have an access code that gains them access through the school entrance only. It is active for a limited period of time during the day, allowing students to enter the building for afternoon sessions of the Religious School. If they need to come in at any other time, they need to use the phone in the main entry vestibule to call the office.

At any door, you only need to use your code to enter! When you approach a door, a motion sensor at the door releases the lock. Sometimes, if you stand by the door prior to exiting, the door will re-lock. If this happens, all doors have a prominent red button next to them to release the door and allow you to get out safely. In case of a fire alarm, the system shuts off automatically and all doors are released.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

A few weeks ago, I attended my first Adult-ed session given by Rabbi Eligberg. Everything I know about Maimonides, I could fit on the end of the proverbial pin.

Although the Rabbi and I have very different views and opinions of our common faith, I found his presentation thoroughly enjoyable as he set the stage for his continuing course by bringing Maimonides' early life into a perspective that we could all relate to. Everyone who attended (yes there were more than 6 adult students in the library that evening), are eagerly awaiting the next chapters. Come join us.

Endow a new Siddur Sim Shalom

The majority of the Siddurim in our synagogue are in a state of disrepair and need to be replaced. The new version of the Siddur Sim Shalom has these advantages:

- * smaller and easier to hold
- * gender and user friendly
- * has more transliteration

A TIMELINE. PART TWO: 1776 — 1841

1779: Jewish Soldier is Promoted to Lieutenant Colonel in the Continental Army. Solomon Bush is promoted to lieutenant colonel in the Continental Army, making him the highest ranking Jewish officer in Amer-

1783: Jewish Major Appointed Vice-Consul in Marseilles. David Salisbury Franks, a major and Benedict Arnold's aide-de-camp during the Revolutionary War, is appointed vice-consul in Marseilles. He is the first Jew to be appointed to a U.S. diplomatic post.

1790: George Washington Affirms Religious Freedom for Jews. In a letter to the Hebrew Congregation in Newport, Rhode Island, President Washington assures the Jewish community that their right to religious freedom is guaranteed by a United States government "which gives to bigotry no sanction, to persecution no assistance...."

1791: Ratification of Bill of Rights Protects Jews, Other Minorities. The adoption by the United States of the first ten amendments to the U.S. Constitution, known as the Bill of Rights, provides a series of freedoms, including the freedom to worship, that is generally believed to assure full civic participation for Jews and other minorities in American society.

1796: Synagogue in America to Follow Ashkenazi Worship. A group of Ashkenazim break way from the Mikveh Israel Synagogue in Philadelphia, forming Rodeph Shalom, the first synagogue in the country to follow the Ashkenazi form of worship. For the first time, a Jewish community has more than a single house of wor-

1796: First Jewish Character in American Fiction Written. In an unflattering characterization, Adonah, a Jewish merchant who robs the protagonist in Royall Tyler's The Algerine Captive, becomes the first modern Jewish character in American fiction.

1801: Etting appointed U.S. Marshall. Reuben Etting is appointed U.S. Marshall for Maryland. He is the first Jew in the United States to hold public office.

1813: Mordecai Manuel Noah Appointed Consul. Mordecai Manuel Noah is appointed consul at Tunis. Born in Philadelphia, Noah was a fervent patriot and advocate of war with England in 1812. This is the first major diplomatic post awarded to an American Jew.

However, in 1814 Secretary of State James Monroe recalls Noah from his post. Noah's religion is thought to be the primary reason behind his termination. In 1822, Noah is made the first Jewish sheriff of New York City.

1819: Female Hebrew Benevolent Society Established. The Female Hebrew Benevolent Society, the first of its kind, is founded in Philadelphia by Rebecca Gratz. The Society is created to aid Philadelphia's impoverished Jews, providing them with food, clothing, and other essentials. Later, in 1838, Gratz founds the first Sunday school, the forerunner of Gratz College.

1823: The Jew Begins Publication. Solomon H. Jackson publishes The Jew, in New York, the first Jewish periodical in the U.S. This publication's primary purpose is to refute missionary attacks on Jews.

1831: Jewish Minister Initiates Preaching in English. Isaac Leeser, the hazzan of Philadelphia's Congregation Mikveh Israel, becomes the first American Jewish minister to institute preaching in English as part of the Shabbat services.

1833: Penina Moise Publishes Poems. Charleston born Penina Moise publishes a book of her poems, five of which have Jewish themes. Her book, published in Charleston, is thought to be the first by a Jewish woman in the United States.

1834: House of Rothschild Appointed Fiscal Agents of U.S. The House of Rothschild, the European Jewish banking family, is appointed fiscal agents of the United 1840: President Orders Protest of Damascus Blood Libel. President Martin Van Buren orders the U.S. consul in Egypt to protest the Damascus blood libel. The libel claims that Syrian Jews had killed two men and used their blood to make Passover matzah. In a groundbreaking effort, fifteen thousand American Jews protest in six American cities on behalf of their Syrian brethren.

1841: Mordecai Drafts U.S. Army Ordnance Manual. Alfred Mordecai drafts the first U.S. Army Ordnance Manual. During the Civil War, Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, asks him to be chief of ordnance. Mordecai resigns to avoid fighting for the North against his home and fighting for the South against his country.

1841: Jewish Day School Established. Congregation B'nai Jeshurun establishes the United States' first Jewish day school in New York.

A RISKY OPPORTUNITY

Risk is an interesting concept to consider. We all take calculated risks in our everyday lives, like when we make a financial investment, switch jobs or try something new. We are willing to take those risks because we want to improve our future or enrich our lives. Sometimes we benefit from taking risks and sometimes we don't. But, risk avoidance is in itself risky, especially if we expect tomorrow to be better than today. Circumstances do change and opportunity often presents itself surrounded in risk.

With the anticipated demise of Israel's arch-adversary, both the Israelis and the Palestinians were presented with an opportunity to make a better future. Wisely, Israeli leaders took some calculated risks to advance the prospects for peace. They removed travel restrictions on Arafat before he died and took significant steps toward reducing defensive measures afterward. Cognizant of the precarious position of the interim Palestinian leadership, the Israelis scrupulously avoided any appearance of meddling. Equally as wisely, the interim Palestinian leadership had taken risks by avoiding a conflict over the burial site, tried to bring their violent, militant factions into a political election process and attempted to restore the rule of law.

To even the casual observer, it was obvious that both sides saw this historic opportunity and understood the risks of action and inaction. They have reciprocally signaled their desire to resolve the conflict. Yet, no one expects any further progress to be easy, go smoothly or happen quickly. There are too many extremists with their own agendas ready to be spoilers. Moderate Palestinian leaders have been openly threatened and Israel anticipates a barrage of provocative acts. The Palestinian leadership has the added burden of gaining the confidence of their cynical fragmented public while any support from Israel can be a double-edged sword.

Faced with the risks associated with a new reality, many people on both sides of the fence feel that they have been hurt too deeply to ever reconcile, and the editorial pundits are quick to logically explain why they think a resolution is impossible. I personally am more optimis-

...both sides ... have reciprocally signaled their desire to resolve the conflict. Yet, no one expects any further progress to be easy... tic. The Israeli and Palestinian leadership have both demonstrated a willingness to take constructive risks for the future of their people, and under the right conditions, time has a way of healing even the deepest wounds. This column was written in November, too soon to expect much progress, but I hope that by the time you read it, the risks already taken will have yielded some encouraging rewards.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL REPORTS

Ann Kanarek, Director

ALOHA

I was recently on vacation in Hawaii and as I traveled on the coastal roads, I enjoyed the awesome scenery as the land met the sea. As a visitor I naturally looked out the window toward the ocean's horizon. However, I noticed that the local people who drive these roads look inland. They want to see what's going on: who's remodeling their house, who has a new car, who's working outside that they know and should wave to. This is the paradox of paradise island travel; the contrast between people who visit and people who reside, between those hosting and those trying to be respectful guests.

Our synagogue can be either a place that is just visited and looked at or it can be our spiritual home. It only remains for us as travelers to step off the tour bus or get out of our car long enough to join the worship, the learning and the fellowship. There are several ways we can make the change from gawking outsiders to respected guests or valued congregants. Don't allow yourself to be an outsider looking in. Enjoy the local flavor, be part of community activity and mingle. Here at B'nai Tikvah everyone is welcome to be part of the excitement. Don't be a stranger. Join us, get involved, and come to participate in our many programs, activities and worship services. We look forward to seeing you.

CHANUKAH IS COMING!!

SUPPORT OUR RELIGIOUS SCHOOL'S WALL OF FLAME

Put your name on a flame, put your handle on a candle. Look for the Wall of Flame, our Religious School Menorah with your name in lights. For only a dollar each, you can buy paper flames for every member of your family. Or, for 18 big ones, you can buy a whole paper candle for your group. Anyway you choose, you are warming up to a great cause--your Religious School. For more information, check the flyer in this bulletin. On behalf of the Religious School staff and children we thank you for your support.

PICKING FAVORITES

Is Chanukah your favorite holiday? Well join the crowd; most children would agree with you. Now we have to ask: "Why?" "The presents, of course!" you say. Yet giving gifts at Chanukah is a fairly new part of the holiday. Earlier in our history, a few coins were given to children on Chanukah. These coins were called Chanukah gelt (gelt means money in Yiddish). During the holiday, many Jews continue to give tzedakah so the poor could receive gelt, too.

Chanukah is popular because the story makes us proud as Jews. We celebrate the victory of the Maccabees over the Syrian-Greek army of the tyrant Antiochus. As we light candles, eat latkes and play dreidle, we remember that the Maccabees's struggle of long ago is still our struggle today: How to remain loyal to the traditions and dreams of our people while participating in the best that the secular world has to offer. Theirs was also a battle for religious freedom, a battle that we continue to fight today as well.

In the synagogue, Chanukah is marked with a few changes in the prayer service. A special prayer of thanksgiving is added which begins with the words Al ha-Nissim "for the miracles." Al ha-Nissim is also added to the Birkat ha-Mazon, the grace after meals. The full Hallel, made up of psalms of praise to G-d, is said each morning.

Chanukah is an exciting time of year for everyone. I wish you all a Chag Sameach and best wishes for a happy and enjoyable Chanukah.

We have planned many exciting programs for Chanukah. Please join us and help us celebrate Chanukah as a congregational family.

RELIGIOUS SCHOOL DECEMBER REMINDERS

Sunday, December 5: Hei class: Rabbi's 4 "B" Program, part 2, 9:00am-12:05pm. Parents are invited.

Sunday, December 12: Special Chanukah program with Cowboy Roy. Join us as we celebrate the exciting holiday of Chanukah with magic, music and puppets. This special event is appropriate for children in Kindergarten - Gimel. Two shows: 9:55am-10:25am or 10:45am-11:15am. Parents are welcome to attend with younger siblings and we hope that our SECOND GRADERS will also join us, too!! (Second graders may join us for either show.)

Thursday, December 23 - Sunday, January 2: NO RELIGIOUS SCHOOL: Winter break

Monday, January 3: Religious school resumes Sunday, January 9: Kindergarten PACT program: Shema Pajama Party, 9:00am-10:30am. Dalet class: Rabbi's 4 "B" program, part one: 9:00am-

NURSERY SCHOOL NEWS

www.bnaitikvah.org

Fran Pearlson, Director

We're Celebrating 30 Years...

We are proud to announce that the Jewish Community Center of North & South Brunswick Nursery School will be celebrating its 30th anniversary this January. Throughout the years, our nursery school has tried to connect our children with their Jewish heritage in a way that has been both engaging and meaningful to them. We thank all families past and present who have helped us reach this important milestone.

And the Beat Goes On...

Our commitment continues this month as we teach our children about Chanukah the "Festival of Lights". The word Chanukah means "dedication". We are dedicated to teach our children not only about getting gifts and gelt but also about the spiritual significance of the holiday. We begin our Chanukah celebration by telling the children the story of Judah Maccabee and the miracle of the oil. We explain that on Chanukah we light the menorah for eight days because the oil, which was only supposed to last for one day, lasted for eight days. Today, we light our candles, exchange gifts, play dreidel, and eat fried potato latkes and donuts to remember this victory for religious freedom and the miracle of the oil.

Chanukah Happenings...

Our nursery school children will all enjoy the celebration of Chanukah by learning holiday songs, preparing potato latkes and other treats, spinning dreidels, and making special menorahs and holiday gifts.

Holidays are a special time and at our school we are warmly inviting our nursery school parents to attend our holiday party on Wednesday, December 8th for our Pre-k and three year old children and Thursday, December 9th for our two and a half year olds and Toddler Fun Club children.

Our Pre-k and three year old actors and actresses are preparing to entertain us with special songs. They will dress as latkes, candles, and Maccabees. We are honored that Rabbi Eligberg and Cantor Rockman will assist us in lighting our school menorah. Master magician, Bruce Bray will entertain us with his magic show. Our party continues as we gather round our festive tables to enjoy eating some latkes, applesauce and munchkins. Gina Giuffre, will provide the entertainment for our younger set. Dreidels filled with Chanukah gelt will be given to our children as treats.

Our children will be given the opportunity to buy little gifts for their families at our "Kids Only Gift Shoppe". This event will surely bring pleasant surprises and smiling faces to our nursery school parents. This event will take place on Thursday, December 2nd and Friday, December 3rd.

On behalf of our nursery school staff, we wish everyone a wonderful and bright Chanukah.

Upcoming Events...

Registration for our Mommy & Me and Toddler Fun Club Winter Session as well as our new two and a half year old class starting in January 2005 will begin on Monday, December 13th. Temple members receive tuition discounts and priority registration. Please stop by or call the nursery school office for a registration packet or to obtain further information.

Our two and a half year old enrichment program -Rhymes & Rainbows will begin in January 2005. This program is for students currently enrolled in our two and a half year old class.

Dear Members of the Congregation:

My Co-President Ilana and I would like to extend the thanks of the entire USY Board and Chapter for your gracious food donations during Rosh Hashanah.

After the holidays our Advisor, Audra Lifson, transported the goods from the Temple to her home in three trips. If you can recall the speech Ilana and I gave on the Second day of Rosh Hashanah, this was exactly our goal.

We contacted the South Brunswick Food Bank in order to donate the food. My brother and I had removed the back seats to our parents' van. Loaded with more than two layers of bagged food my brother Jason our Communications VP, our SA/TO Vice President Sam Rudin, Audra, and I delivered the food on November 14th, following Fall Kinnus.

It took three trips to cart the food inside using three shopping carts for a total of nine cartloads. The people at the Food Bank were shocked and pleased at how much food we

Without the time you spent collecting food and bringing it to the temple we as a community would not have filled nine carts for those less fortunate living among us.

Through your gracious donations many families will have the opportunity for better meals and a full stomach, something most of us take for granted.

From this unselfish act, we extend the gratitude of North/South Brunswick USY's entire Chapter. Your concern for others during the New Year made a lasting impression on USY and the Food Bank, an impression we hope you will help keep through future times of need. USY looks forward to your continued assistance in making our future drives a success.

Once again, I thank you all for the food you donated and the selflessness of this act. We wish you all the best during the upcoming holidays and throughout the year.

The Sons of Tikvah

are recording

their first CD.

If you're a fan of musicals, then you know that these lyrics are from one of the truly great American musicals of all time – West Side Story. With music by Leonard Bernstein and direction and choreography by Jerome Robins – two world-class lantzmen, West Side Story broke all the rules of the stage and began an exiting new era for Broadway and musical theater.

The song, "Something's Coming" describes a feeling that Tony, the romantic male lead, is experiencing. The anticipation of something great that's about to happen. At B'nai Tikvah, something great is coming, too. For many years, a special musical project has been in the planning. Finally, that project is on its way to fruition.

I'd like to officially announce here in Hakol that The Sons of Tikvah, Congregation B'nai Tikvah's own house band, is in the process of recording its first CD. That's right, the music you love to listen to, sing along with, or spontaneously hora to, is about to be available for your own enjoyment at anytime you wish. This has been a true labor of love, one that has required a huge time and financial commitment on the part of everyone in the band, but when it's all said and done, we will have released something to help put B'nai Tikvah on the musical map.

The CD, which we are targeting to ship on or about Chanukah 2004, will contain twelve songs from our growing repertoire of Jewish and Hebrew music. Some songs are tunes that have become our trademarks ("Rommemu, Al Hanissim"), while others are original music we've created ("Shir Shel Moshe"). They're guaranteed to get your toes tapping and for face smiling.

Additionally, we have reached out to our very own Makelah to appear on one of the recordings and Kol Tikvah (our children's choir) on another; so purchasing one of these CDs will give you a multitude of musical styles and flavors.

Why are we doing this? The answer is simple. Cantor

Rockman and I have had a shared vision for more years than we've known each other: the idea of developing an exciting, enlightening music program at Congregation B'nai Tikvah that introduces the beautiful and spiritual music of our Jewish heritage to our growing congregation. And the musical groups that exist today within the shul already offer congregants of all ages the opportunity to begin participating in this experience.

The cost per CD is an $18.00 tax-deductible donation to the Sons of Tikvah Fund. A portion of the proceeds from the sales of this CD will go towards supporting the music programs that we are developing. So if you enjoy the music of The Sons of Tikvah (and our Friends), then I suggest you order as many CDs as possible – for you, your family, your friends, your fellow congregants, your secretary, your dentist, your hair stylist – for everyone! They make wonderful gifts, and your financial support will allow us to continue to bring musical programs to our temple.

BETWEEN THE MONTHS

What happens to the news, announcements, and notices that don't make it into the Hakol by the deadline? Some things would just be "old news" if held over till the next month and some events might be missed altogether.

As I write this, I may not be aware of the next fundraiser or special item for sale by the Men's Club, Sisterhood, or School. But, you can be sure that someone will bring it to my attention and there will be a printable form available on the website and a notice sent in the weekly email announcements.

Some of the current forms include; T-shirts, Flowers, Bracelets, Siddur dedications, College gift registration, Mah Jongg cards, Scrip & Entertainment books.

Check the weekly CBT Newsletter for all the current events and, especially the important, stuff that may not have made it into the Hakol.

"Google" as a verb

Google, the most popular search engine that people use to surf the internet, has recently entered into our everyday vocabulary. To "Google" someone or some thing, means to find publicly accessible information about that person or thing.

To find something specific about B'nai Tikvah, you can go to BnaiTikvah.org and "Google" the site for whatever interests you. Type your phrase or question in the white space on the upper left and click the round "GO" button. Hopefully, Google will find what you're looking for and if it doesn't, please send a note to webmaster@bnaitikvah.org and let me know what you couldn't "google".

From the November, 2004 Board of Trustees Meeting

Membership VP Cindy Gittleman

Focus Groups: Over the course of the coming year, a series of focus groups will be held to learn more about the needs and wants of our congregation. They will be done in a small group format, invitation

Dues Structure: The membership dues structure is being reexamined by a small membership committee. A proposal will be presented to the board hopefully in the spring to be considered. Nothing will go into effect before Jan. 2006

Tee Shirts: B'nai Tikvah wear was well received this year and will continue to be sold. New smaller children sizes will be sold during the fall.

Volunteer Recognition Event: In the spring, membership would like to organize a "THANK YOU" party for all our members who have helped out over the year. (the Jewish year). It will be an open invitation for all volunteers (identifying themselves). Any ideas, please feel free to share them!

Prospect List: Membership keeps and active up-to-date list of prospective members who have shown an interest in B'nai Tikvah. For a copy of this list to invite to a synagogue event, please contact Cindy Gittleman.

Committee Members: The membership committee has welcomed 3 new members this year. Anyone interested in helping on the committee, please do not be shy! Contact VP Membership, Cindy Gittleman.

Past President Mitchell Frumkin

Construction: In order to give a better idea of how the construction has been proceeding I have prepared the following list of the primary contractors and their percentage complete along with a commentary regarding the project schedule and any anticipated extras. Also presented is a list of work still not under contract.

Current Status of budgeted items:

1. Masonry	90%
2. HVAC	70%
3. Electrical	80%
4. Plumbing	50%
5. Windows and Exterior Doors	1009
6. Fire Protection System	70%
7. EIFS (stucco exterior)	90%
8. Steel studs and drywall	55%
9. Miscellaneous iron work	0%
10.Ceilings	0%
11. Bathroom partitions	0%
on order, 4 week lead time
12. Flooring (except MP room)	0%
no contract, no bids
13. MP room flooring	0%
14. Painting	0%
no contract, 1 bid
15.MP Room door	0%
track to be delivered and insta	illed within the next 2 weeks.
16. Classroom accordion door	0%
17. Barrier free lift	0%
18. Gas line	0%
no contract, 1 bid
19. Basketball hoops	75%

A few anticipated extras which were not budgeted by Grant:

- 1. Woodwork at stage
- 2. Final grading at rear of building
- Emergency generator
- Lights in MP room

A few anticipated extras due to other reasons;

Enlarging the size of the soffit at 1. the front of the MP room by the stage due to location of sprinkler system piping.

Additional drywall at main entrance near the existing school wing.

As far as the schedule goes, we are actively working on completing the interior steel stud work and drywall. While the electrical work is ahead of this work, the stud work cannot be completed until the plumbing rough in is completed. This is now complete and the sheetrock in the classroom area is completed in most areas with taping and spackling taking place. The remaining EIFS (stucco) work is complete except for the area at the back of the multi purpose room as we await installation of a steel beam at the lower part of the wall. This has been promised for the next week or so. The work in the ceiling area of the MP room has been progressing with the installation of the basketball back board supporting structure and the installation of the ductwork in the ceiling area.

On the authorization of the BOT at the last meeting, the Construction Committee has met with the Synagogue's Attorney to discuss proceeding against the Contractor for various cost overruns with the project.

BOARD AND VP REPORTS

Feedback Committee: A reorganizational meeting of the Feedback Committee took place on Sunday October 24. It was agreed that the Committee would continue to operate although it would only meet when either Committee members or the Clergy have things which they would like to discuss. An e mail will be sent the first of each month to the Committee. If anyone feels that a meeting should take place, it would than be scheduled by the Chair.

School & Youth VP Harold Schneider

Religious School: Last year's Simchat Torah program created a Torah tapestry. This is now ready to display in our new building.

On October 24, our 8th, 9th, and 10th grade Chai School students joined with the "Clothes Line" organization and Laura Waksman to size and sort slightly used clothing for the needy of our community.

On Sunday, December 5, the Rabbi will facilitate the second of two Believing, Being, Belonging and Becoming programs for our Hei class.

The Alef naming service and dinner is scheduled for Friday, November 19.

College Program: If you have not already done so, be sure to register your college student with the office or Marcia Schwartz so he or she can get the packages and letters.

Kadima: Kadima membership is currently at 48.

Our recently elected Kadima Board:

President- Keren Brown VP Communications- Evan Jacobs VP Membership & Events-

Samantha Kopelow Religous VP-Ben Goldman 7th Grade Rep-Hollie Freedman 6th Grade Rep- Jason Seidman On Thursday, November 4th, Kadima will hold Design a Shirt/Deli Night. Our Kadima members will put their artistry and sandwich-making skills to the test. The new board will be deciding the winner of the best t-shirt. The t-shirts will be made up and sold as a fundraiser. On Sunday, November 14th, Kadima will have Laser Tag at Laser Park in Princeton Junction.

Lastly, we are still looking volunteers to help assist/chaperone the Kadima Regional Dance that B'nai Tikvah is hosting on November 20th. Anyone who can help please contact Adam Sackett, or youth chairs, Adrienne Ross or Bonnie Eisenberg.
