TURN RIGHT OR LEFT A Message From Rabbi Robert Wolkoff

So here's my problem. Last Rosh Hashanah, I noticed that one of our young people was not in shul. He is dedicated and knowledgeable, with a history of being an active participant in our programs. So where was he, I asked? At his girlfriend's shul (I hoped!)?

Unfortunately, NO. His parents explained that he didn't feel like he could really have a good davening experience in our sanctuary. Why? Because there was so much socializing going on that he couldn't concentrate on his relationship with G-d. So he stayed at his college to daven there. So tell me, friends: what do I do?

I've been toying with the idea of putting a big sign up in our foyer. On the left the text would read: If you want to fulfill the mitzvah of showing your love for G-d, turn left toward the prayer room. On the right the text would read: If you want to fulfill the mitzvah of showing your love for the people of Israel, turn right toward the kibbitzing room.

Ahavat Hashem, love for G-d, is a great mitzvah. Ahavat Yisrael, love for our fellow Jews, is also a great mitzvah. Both require tremendous effort and concentration, if we really want to do them right. Both are completely legitimate, and the more of each we do, the better. The problem comes when we try to do both at once.

Just imagine how inappropriate it would be if we had a kibbitzing room, where everyone was talking, catching up on the news about the people we care about, strengthening the social fabric which is the foundation of our community, and someone came into the room and announced, "I've decided to daven, so everyone be quiet." We would want to say, "Hey, wait a minute, you want to daven, fine, but this is a space dedicated to the sacred act of talking with each other. Daven someplace else."

Well, think about it. Isn't it just as problematic if someone comes into our sanctuary, listens to the haunting and evocative melodies chanted by our wonderful chazzan, holds the machzor in his hands, gets ready to pour his heart out to G-d, or at least to try to, and then...about the stock market, Tiger Woods, Obama, Lindsay Lohan (G-d help us), Gov. Christie, somebody else's clothes, and why the Mets are tanking yet again.

Is this really the best we can do? Don't we owe it to ourselves to work together to create a space dedicated to the sacred act talking to G-d?

And maybe, just maybe, hearing G-d talk to us?

I've been told by several people that some might find my proposed sign offensive. I must admit that I don't know why (I would love to hear from you about this) because I certainly have no intention of offending anyone. But the Talmud teaches us that if one person tells you that you are drunk, you can ignore it, but if two people tell you, you had best sit down. So there won't be any sign up. (But sign or no, we are going to have a room set aside for kibbitzing. Please plan to use it during the holidays.)

But I still have my problem, and unless you are content watching our best and our brightest finding more spiritual places to daven, my problem is your problem. Why don't we make a conscious effort to solve it together?

Rabbi Robert L. Wolkoff

PS: On behalf of my family, I wish you and yours a wonderful sweet, divine, new year.

OUR HAZZAN'S VOICE Cantor Bruce Rockman

This month we are so blessed to experience another Rosh Hashanah together. We will begin another year with hope and anxious anticipation of good health for ourselves and our dear ones and the desire to achieve significant accomplishments.

Each year, at the high holy days, we are reminded to take stock in our lives and prepare to be judged by God. This is a time of preparation; repair and opportunity. At times I feel a sense of desperation, wondering about my actions and my relationships and whether I have been a good son, husband, father, friend, colleague, brother, uncle, teacher and cantor? Have I been generous to the widows and orphans of this world?

All human beings are made in the image of God. But for what purpose were we made? Rabbi Harold M. Schulweis, offers this biblical answer. “You are to imitate God in order to bring God’s presence into your life and the lives of others”. What does God do that we can imitate? God creates, blesses, rests, calls, comforts, cares, repairs, wrestles, gives and forgives, all attainable goals.

Among our Godly goals is to help heal and fix this world. It seems like the right thing to do. How do we know that this is what God wants us to do? Dr. Ron Wolfson wrote in his book “The Seven Questions You’re Asked in Heaven” that as a person of faith he believes in heaven. As far as I know, we don’t know what it looks like nor where it is, does that matter? Virtually every religion has imagined such a concept. Dr. Wolfson continues, “for Jews, how you live your life in this world determines your status in the “olam ha-bah, the world to come”

I am forever grateful for the opportunity that B’nai Tikvah has offered me to express my aspiration and to share with ideals with you. I love every aspect of my position; some facets are more organic than others; growing and changing are important Jewish values which increase my joy daily.

This year the L’dor Vador scholar in residence, during the weekend of November 19-21. “L’dor Vador, From Generation to Generation”, intends to enrich and excite, to be provocative and refreshing. In order to look forward and to be the best parents and leaders that we can be, we must be READY for a challenge. I am particularly thankful to have been able to establish The L’dor Vador Endowment for the Arts. We have celebrated with numerous musical performances. Since L’dor Vador was created, I have had the opportunity to present extraordinary Jewish artists to the congregation. Music touches our soul and elevates our prayers. I look forward to continue this tradition as well as highlighting more home grown musical experiences for our community.

Dr. Ron Wolfson will be our guest scholar. He is an engaging speaker, brilliant and down to earth. Dr. Wolfson’s presentations and books are straight from the heart, full of wisdom, funny, moving and uplifting. I am confident that you will love hearing his message, awed by his depth of knowledge and comforted by his kindness.

Learning from Dr. Wolfson’s scholarship will be provocative and uplifting, helping us define and understand the future of Jewish life in America.

We will host several events for our congregation and the entire community. More details and sponsorship opportunities will be announced very soon.

Thank you for your continued support and understanding. I will continue to encourage you to engage and enjoy our Jewish traditions. We can all make a difference, imitating Godly qualities as we stand in God’s warm embrace.

Accept my prayer as though I were supremely qualified for the task...For You mercifully hear the prayers of Your people Israel; Praised are You who hears prayer.

Worship the Lord in gladness; ador event will welcome

SUMMER RECAP

I hope you all had a wonderful summer. Camp JCC was a resounding success for the 5th year in a row! We had close to 30 campers. There were 2 bunks: The Little Lambs (2 ½ and 3 yr. olds), and The Mighty Ducks (4 and 5 yr. olds). Weather permitting the campers had water play every day. There were 2 small pools to keep us cool. We had yoga with Jul every Friday. There was cooking, baking, sports and arts & crafts.

We had different themes starting with “Friends, Friends, Friends”. Friendship books with photographs were created by the campers. Another theme was “Winter Olympics, Go USA!” The Olympic Arena was our gym where children “ice skated”, went tobogganing and swept curling stones with curling brooms.

The theme for week #3 was “The Wild Wild West”. We had real pony rides and a petting zoo. Flapjacks and “chili” were cooked and consumed. Week Four’s theme was “Around the World in 5 Days” where we ‘visited’ various continents including Australia, North America and Antarctica. Choo Choo Charlie took us on a magical adventure through the continents.

The second half of the summer started out with, “Bugs Bugs Bugs”. We went on bug hunts and looked at the bugs we caught under microscopes that were attached to computers. Miss Linda from Computer Tots helped us out.

“It’s Magic” week was filled with science magic experiments and “real magic” performed Magician Amazing Dave. Camp continued with “F is for Fitness”. The Fun Bus came to our camp. We made healthy salads and drinks in cooking.

Camp concluded with the “Totally 60’s”. We tie dyed shirts, made peace signs, and had a 60’s dance. The dance was followed by an awards ceremony where our campers performed some of their favorite camp songs.

Books for kids

Sisterhood is linking the Jewish values of study and tzedakah through our support of Women's League's Books for all 7,000 Baltimore Third Graders initiative. For Baltimore's inner-city children, books are a luxury item, last on the list of household priorities. This is a far cry from our own community where children can own dozens, if not hundreds, of books. The cost of one book is $3.00 and will be purchased at a discount from Scholastic Books. Sisterhood is asking our members and friends to support this worthy community building initiative by sending monetary donations for the purchase of these books to Sisterhood or to Women's League for Conservative Judaism by October 21st. The books will be presented to students and representatives from the Baltimore City Public Schools at the WLCJ Convention in Baltimore, MD on December 15, 2010.

B'shalom,

Another Viewpoint Dancing Cheek to Cheek

One of the things that I like about old movies is watching the characters dance at receptions or ballrooms or wherever the plot takes them. I don't mean the Fred Astaire's and Ginger Rogers or any of the great dance & movie entertainers of the 30's, 40's and 50's. I'm talking about the couple dancing with their arms around each other, close enough to have a conversation, covered by the music but not so loud that they couldn't hear each other.

Sometimes the talk is about love, or gossip about the host, or maybe a cover to pass international secrets. I was never a skilled dancer, but unlike today, in the big band days there were various named dances that had prescribed steps, like the Lindy, or Fox Trot, the Shag and others. A couple who danced together frequently could work out their own steps or variations. Mili and I had worked out our steps to a dance called The Manhattan, which we danced to a Latin beat. Some of my long time friends remind me from time to time how they would stop and watch Mili and I do our special dance.

But sometimes the manner of cheek to cheek dancing was a way to get to know someone you just met, and talk about things that might lead to common interests, friendship or even romance. Don't get me wrong. I like a good party as well as the next guy, but it has taken some getting used to. In the year 2010, so far I have, past and future, five Mitzvahs (2 Bar and three Bat). All of the kids are well prepared and read their parshas and make fine speeches. The major changes have been in the receptions held post the religious event.

In the past, (my past) the music was performed by live musicians. Nowadays, the music is played by DJ's through bone jarring loud speakers at decibels that can loosen the ceiling beams and destroy your hearing. (Hint – invest in the hearing aid business. Also, if all of the music is recorded, what are the musicians doing for a living?)

The best thing about modern wedding and Bar & Bat Mitzvah receptions is it finally gets some sedentary people off their duffs and doing some exercise. Modern ballroom dancing (if I may call it that) seems like a variation of Native American war dancing. Jump up and down, shake your butt, stamp your feet and wave your hands. I miss the genteel ceremony of asking a lady for a dance, or reserving a dance for later, or walking onto the dance floor hand in hand, and then returning the lady back to her table with a little bow.

But times have changed, and there goes the music – BOOM - BOOM – BOOM – Hey, wait for me!!

Hardest Walk You'll Ever Take

According to our tradition, it's customary to end the seven-day mourning period ("shiva") by leaving the shiva house and taking a walk around the block. The idea is that after having retreated from the challenges of the world during shiva in order to cope with a tragic loss, it is time to "get back to the real world" and return to our normal existence.

Without doubt, that's the hardest walk any of us will ever take. And the reason is because no matter how effective and therapeutic the shiva period may have been, we can't just wrap our grief up in a tiny little bundle and put it in some emotional storage bin. Our sense of loss endures for days, weeks, months, years.

It's sometimes hard to accept that we will not always be strong; hard to avoid anger at being thrown into a completely unexpected and (to say the least) uncomfortable life-situation; hard to regain our sense of humor, and hard to avoid feeling guilt about regaining it.

To meet all these challenges, we need each other. And with that in mind, we will be starting a bereavement group with Rabbi Wolkoff here at Bnai Tikvah. We will meet every other Thursday afternoon, beginning on October 7, between 5 and 6.

Every bereavement group has its own unique "style," reflecting the particular experiences and personalities of the participants and the inclinations of the group facilitators. Because of this, it's too early to say exactly what our group will be like. But it will have as a common thread reference to the wisdom of our tradition, with the intent of deepening our spiritual insights while at the same time addressing issues of practical concern. We urge the participants to share those texts that have served to inspire, comfort, or guide them.

In this combination of the spiritual and the practical, our group will be quintessentially "Jewish". Please consider joining us in the fall. If you have any questions, please contact Rabbi Wolkoff 732-297-0696, Ilene Karp 732-297-6646, or Bob Mendelowitz 609-490-0488 for more information Please join us on Thursday, October 7th at 8 p.m. in the Social Hall for “Punch Me in the Stomach”. Humor has never been associated with the Holocaust but in this rich, funny and poignant performance, Deb Filler creates the qualities of the universal family out of the family she lost. This film celebrates love for family, especially for extended family of one survivor of Auschwitz who made his home in New Zealand after the war. He is accompanied on a journal back to the camps by his comedienne daughter, Deb.

Rabbi Robert Wolkoff will lead the discussion afterwards.

SHOSHANNA
SCHECTER-SHAFFIN

Shoshanna R. Schecter-Shaffin is a graduate of the Charles E. Smith Jewish Day School (Rockville MD) and the University of Maryland, holding a BA in Jewish Studies and Anthropology. She studied at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem during a semester abroad. She attended the Graduate School of the Jewish Theological Seminary, receiving an MA in Jewish Studies at the Rabbinical School of JTS. In addition to taking Hebrew for 12 years at day school, she studied Hebrew at various institutions and completed the highest level of Hebrew at the seminary.

While living in Nebraska, Shoshanna directed a religious school for over 70 children, grades K-12 serving both a Reform and a Conservative congregation. Her ability to integrate two different branches of Judaism into one school and curriculum speaks to her capability to work with people in a creative and flexible way, while holding true to her commitment to Jewish education.

THANKS FOR THE PINTS!

Heading into the second decade of this 21st century seemed like a fine time to assess what's been accomplished with our Blood Donor Drives at B'nai Tikvah. We're pleased to note that we've collected 1,116 pints since we started keeping track of the numbers in 1995.

When we started the winter drives in January 1987, at Rabbi Warmflash's request, we didn't know whether, or how long they would continue. We admit to being lax in our record keeping and duly apologize. So for the unrecorded years from '87 through '95 we'll just make an educated guess of 25-pints per drive adding another 225-units to our total.

And that brings our collection efforts up to 1,341. Nothing shabby there! We've been helped by the advent of the ALYX system, that allows double-donations in a single sitting.

We collected 54-pints at this summer's drive...and were helped in that by a couple of 16-year-olds starting their donor careers. New Jersey started to allow donations from 16's last October. They need written parental okay, and the forms are available at www.bloodnj.com. We're hopeful for a whole new cadre of lifelong blood donors.

January 2009 was our highpoint, when we collected 74-pints from 75 donors. That's the goal we aspire to match or exceed in the future. So make a note on next year's calendar that we'll be looking for you on January 30th, from 11-to-3...as a donor, or volunteer.

Our thanks to our summer volunteers: Shirley Engel; Bette Koffler; Don Harvey; John Kopnka; Ed Rosen; Althea & Mort Wurmbrand.

USY NEWS

My name is Mat Napchen, and I am very excited to become the new advisor for the North/South Brunswick USY chapter! I recently graduated from Rutgers University, with a degree in political science. The past two summers I have staffed USY on Wheels and Eastern Europe/ Israel Pilgrimage in that order, and have staffed Hagalil Kadima encampment the past four years. I love to read, play basketball, and I am a huge Yankees fan (I know excessive amounts of Yankee trivia). I am excited to meet all of you, and I look forward to a great year!

As we begin the new year, we invite current and potential USYer's to our upcoming events!

ROOMS FOR RENT AT CBT

If you or anyone you know is looking for a place to have a birthday party, anniversary celebration, other lifecycle events, basketball game(s), soccer practice, dance classes, etc. please think of B'nai Tikvah.

We have a 4,000 square foot multi-purpose room/gymnasium with basketball court, stage and kitchen. If the room is too big for your function, it has a folding wall so it can be made into 2 smaller rooms. There are also six classrooms available (desks and chairs can be removed, if necessary), large bathroom facilities and on-site caterer. The classrooms can be used for small parties, to start a class and share a skill that you are terrific at, etc. We have the tables (round and rectangle) and chairs needed for your function. Our room rates are reasonable and you can use Classical Caterers for scrumptious kosher meals or pick from our list of acceptable restaurants.

TODAH RABAH

As newcomers to Congregation B'nai Tikvah, we have just completed our first year as members. The warmth of this synagogue is evident from the moment as soon as one enters. It has truly been a wonderful experience for us, and we are happy we made the decision to join the CBT family.

Sadly, this past April, we suffered the loss of Phyllis' father, Max Rubenstein, of blessed memory. The love and support extended to us has been comforting during this most difficult time for our family. We want to express our gratitude to Rabbi Wolkoff and Cantor Rockman for their kindness and concern, as well as to the administrative staff, and to those who conducted evening services at our home. Whether you came to visit with us during Shiva, have sent cards and messages of sympathy, have continued or will continue to attend daily congregational minyanim allowing us to say Kaddish, we say "TODAH RABAH" to each and every one of you.

We are blessed to have found such a true community in which to worship.

Sincerely,
Phyllis and Allen Pinsky

Customized Programming To Meet Your Individual Health & Fitness Goals

Religious School Update

from Shoshanna Schechter-Shaffin, Religious School Director

Shalom! I am very excited and honored to begin my first year as Religious School Director at B'nai Tikvah. I am looking forward to meeting and getting to know all of you and your children very soon. It may still be summertime, but in the Religious School office, we are hard at work putting together an amazing year of classes and programs which we know that you and your children will enjoy and find meaningful. While we will certainly be making some fresh and exciting changes in the curriculum, extra care has been taken to make sure to include almost all of the "classic" B'nai Tikvah religious school programs, such as the Aleph naming ceremony and the Gimmel class mock wedding.

The theme for this coming year is "Ani V'atah Neshaneh et Ha Olam" (You and I can change the world) from the popular Israeli song of the same name. This theme will focus on the Jewish value of Tikkun Olam (repairing the world) and the small things that everyone, including children, can do in their daily lives to improve the world, whether it be something small like picking up garbage when we see it on the ground, or something larger like volunteering at a local animal shelter. A special highlight of this theme will be age appropriate Mitzvah Days for all of our classes in which parents are invited and encouraged to participate.

One of my main goals for next year will be to modernize and improve the communication between the religious school office, teachers, and parents. School announcements, reminders, and updates will now be available via social networking tools Twitter (ShoshBnaiTikvah) and Facebook. In addition, all teachers will be required to communicate with parents at on least a monthly basis by e-mail. We truly want to give parents every opportunity to be active, involved, and knowledgeable about their children's Jewish education!

Shanah Tovah and again, I look forward to meeting all of you very soon at the Religious School Parent Orientation on September 12th!

B'Shalom,
Shoshanna

Men's Club

Dear Fellow Congregant:

The Board of the Men's Club hopes you are enjoying the summer. We also hope that upon receiving this letter, you will consider becoming part of a very special group of men dedicated to providing service to our Synagogue and helping it to prosper and grow.

The Men's Club is an integral part of our synagogue. Our group focuses on Jewish values and carrying out its principles while providing an opportunity to develop friendships. It also offers educational service opportunities that reflect the interests of its members. We sponsor youth and family events, our adult softball team, host informative breakfast programs and trips, furnish gifts to our Bar/Bat Mitzvah children, as well as performing other mitzvahs. The Men's Club provides contributions to the synagogue for capital improvements including the HVAC system in the sanctuary and social hall as well as charitable donations to secular and non-secular organizations. We have bolstered every facet of synagogue activity. As you read this letter we are planning many varied and stimulating programs for our 2010/2011 year. We look forward to your attendance and participation.

Our membership year is once again upon us. Please join as a member of the Men's Club. Our annual dues are only $36. Please either complete the membership form below with you payment or include it as part of your dues.

We encourage you to join! There is a place and program for every age group. We hope you participate in our social activities as well as perform various supportive services for the Synagogue. Active participation can be very gratifying. It will be an exciting year with your support.

If you have any questions or ideas, please feel free to contact me, Steve Katz at 732-329-0687 (skatz56@aol.com). If you want to participate in any capacity, remember that the doors are always open at CBT and the Men's Club.
